Explore our Focus groups

Focus groups are collaborations actively working on a commonly identified challenge related to the transition to Smart Cities. The participants of Focus groups meet and debate their ideas in an on-site and online discussion setting (e.g. webinar, workshop) and actively work on a shared outcome. Focus groups are managed by a chair and a member of the Smart Cities Marketplace team. Communication and cooperation are supported by a member of the Smart Cities Marketplace team, a secretarial support team and through the Smart Cities Marketplace's community space. Focus groups can thus serve as a springboard for the development of concrete projects.

Explore our Discussion groups

Discussion groups are fora where the participants can exchange experience, cooperate, support, and discuss a specific theme. This exchange will be held as an online discussion forum (through the Smart Cities Marketplace's community space) and guided by a Discussion group chair and a Smart Cities Marketplace team member.
